

GOT GOSSIP

SMS:
CC Editor,
0416 905 147

E-mail:
coastconfidential
@goldcoast.com.au

Phone:
CC Editor,
5584 2487

Amateur golf gala attracts more than 1000 players and friends

MORE than 1000 golfers and friends descended on the Pavilion Ballroom of Jupiters Casino on Saturday night for the Mitsubishi Motors World Masters Golf championships gala dinner organised by Go Golfing.

This is the 15th anniversary of this event, which is the largest and richest amateur golf tournament in the southern hemisphere.

The winners received prizes valued at more than $120,000, which included a 2010 Mitsubishi Lancer. Go Golfing is a Gold Coast family-owned business. Managing director Peter McCarthy said it was estimated the event injected about $2.4 million into the city.

Nice to see Masahiko Takahashi, president and CEO of Mitsubishi Australia, at the prize-winning dinner.

Tess Banning and Soraya Klemenz

Masahiko Takahashi

David and Trudi Wilkie

Fun night out for spooks

WITCHES, vampires, vixens, ghouls and ghosts were out in force on Sunday night when Halloween was celebrated not only by the kids in the street who came a-knocking, shouting "trick or treat", but at the many clubs including the Temple Bar which decorated the venue with ghouls, goblins and pumpkins.

Guests got caught up in the atmosphere with all sorts of fancy costumes depicting this spooky fun affair.

Melanie Bonwick, Dannah Underwood and Jacinta Schiltz

Rochelle Stork and Jane Jansons

Seona Wolsey and Danielle Courgaud

Rachael Hobbs and Brooke McConnell

Above left, Skylar Nelson; above, Margaret Ransfield, Jaimie Digby and Amanda Phillips

Breakfast crowd puts judge's head on Block

REAL estate industry high-flyer John McGrath was in town last week and addressed 80 invited business people over breakfast.

He said he expected a barrage of questions about the market but instead the main thing they wanted to know was who was going to win The Block, the popular Channel 9 reality show that McGrath is a judge on.

He wouldn't be drawn on the victor but he did say the next episode contained 'some very real controversy'.

Stay tuned.

Gal pals left dreaming an impossible dream

IT was pretty much a case of bibs all round when the smoking hot star of Twilight, Xavier Samuel, was spotted having dinner at Lemon Grass Thai restaurant in Main Beach.

Our spicy source, who was on the next table with some gal pals, said he was very quietly dining with a friend but that didn't stop the girls from dreaming the impossible dream.

Dishy Lincoln and the easily convertible

ANOTHER young Australian actor causing some swooning around town is Lincoln Lewis.

He won some serious brownie points at a recent function by being especially obliging.

He also made one young female fan, who was celebrating her 13th birthday with family and friends, swoon by signing an autograph, "To my future wifey".

Given the level of her devotion, let's hope for Lewis's sake that in five years hence she doesn't enforce that as a binding promise of marriage.